

Who We Are

Virtual Information Executives is a Portland, Oregon company specializing in helping organizations “Bridge the Divide between the Business and its Information Technology”. VIE provides executive level Information Technology (IT) consulting services allowing organizations to draw on a national pool of former operational executives with Fortune 500 level experience to meet the specific needs of your business.

What We Offer

In a perfect world, every company would have its own Chief Information Officer to oversee Information Technology activities and ensure they are aligned with business objectives. In reality, only the largest corporations can afford a full-time executive of that caliber, though the role is no less vital to other organizations.

VIE offers affordable and custom solutions to address a variety of IT needs. To do this, VIE pairs companies with a CIO Consultant with experience relevant to their business.

The Consultant forms a partnership with Key Decision Makers and becomes a trusted and accountable advisor. Each of our Consultants also maintains a relationship with a nationwide network of CIO Consultants, giving your business access to hundreds of years of combined experience.

- Engagements customized to fit your need.
- Access to a network of Fortune 500 level CIO Consultants.
- Affordable access to accountable IT leadership for your business.
